PRESS RELEASE

AMADOR COUNTY APPOINTS COUNTY ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICER

The Amador County Board of Supervisors is proud to announce the appointment of Chuck Iley to the position of County Administrative Officer (CAO), effective September 20, 2010. Mr. Iley will succeed CAO Terri Daly. Ms. Daly, who had been CAO since March 9, 2007, submitted her resignation in June to assume the position of Deputy County Administrator for El Dorado County.

Mr. Iley most recently served as the Director of Development Services for Clay County, Florida, a community of 185,000 residents. As the department head, Mr. Iley was responsible for overseeing the engineering, planning, zoning, building and code enforcement divisions. His responsibilities included managing the operations of the Development Services department as well as the development of all Capital Improvement Plan projects, including three bond-funded road widening projects totaling approximately $85 million. Mr. Iley graduated from the University of North Florida, where he attained a master’s degree in business administration, as well as University of Miami, where he received a bachelor’s degree in civil engineering. He is also a registered professional engineer in the state of California and once has previously worked for Caltrans, overseeing highway and bridge projects. Mr. Iley has family in the Volcano area and is in the process of relocating his wife Molly and two children, Tricia and Emily, to the area.

In response to the Board’s decision, Mr. Iley stated, “I am honored that the Board of Supervisors has placed their confidence in me to assist them in continuing to tackle the important and difficult issues that face the County. I look forward to working with the Board and the staff as we identify ways to continue to improve our service to our residents and address the challenges that lie before us.”
